

TEACHING ENGLISH

As English is considered a quite valuable asset in the job market, you will be teaching children or adults in the community. In the rural zones, they have little to no access to English teachers. Come help here and teach as an intern or volunteer.

Program as low as $370/week with housing and meals.

Gain Real Teaching Experience

Participants will provide either tutoring to local students, small workshops, or assistance to local teachers. Participants will have an objective of promoting greater literacy, supporting opportunities for higher education, building vocational skills and enhancing career prospects among students.
